3 Days 2 Nights IPOH EXPLORATION

Day 01:

Start your day right with some egg tarts and Ipoh white coffee at the rustic Nam Heong White Coffee Shop! This humble kopitiam is one of the pioneers of Ipoh white coffee, and is even the inspiration behind the now-popular Old Town White Coffee. The coffee here is foamy and a great balance of sweetness and bitterness - pair it with some egg tarts or kaya and butter toast for some simple goodness.

After breakfast, starts exploration of Ipoh's old buildings, beautified with a series of unique, local-style murals by Lithuanian artist Ernest Zacharevic back in 2014. His masterpieces are dotted across the town, in stray alleys, and at the back of buildings.

Here are some of our favourites you shouldn't miss:

- Kopi O Ikat Tepi (carpark on Jalan Tun Sambanthan)
- Old Uncle Drinking Coffee (opposite Ipoh Tourist Information Centre)
- Man With Trishaw (at the corner of Jalan Market)
- Yellow Hummingbird (on Jalan Panglima)
- Kids Riding Paper Plane (on Jalan Tun Sambanthan)

Concubine Lane & Market Lane - These streets are must-visits when in Ipoh! They're lined with cute boutique shops, laid-back cafes, dessert spots, and vibrant decor. Get your camera ready for some shots against the nice backdrops here, make sure you keep an eye out for some murals and street art in the area!

Yasmin Ahmad Museum - Continue your journey of art and culture by popping by the Yasmin Ahmad Museum, located at Kong Heng. This small, unconventional museum was built with the aim to educate and inspire visitors to create films and commercial scripts of their own, just like the late Yasmin did. The little space is filled with nostalgic poetry, films, and photography.

Explore Kong Heng Square, a charming space where you can find booths and little stalls selling knick-knacks, souvenirs, and crafts. If you're looking for something to quench your thirst on a hot day, get an ais kepal (ice ball) from Bits & Bobs!

For lunch will recommend Ipoh famous Lou Wong Bean Sprout Chicken.

Fragrant chicken rice at Lou Wong Bean Sprout Chicken. This is one of the most popular chicken rice places in Ipoh! After lunch try out Ipoh famous Tau fu fah (soya beancurd) It is said that the tau fu fah here is made with spring water in Ipoh, giving it its unique taste and texture. Our favourite spot to satisfy our tau fu fah cravings is Funny Mountain, a family-run store that has been serving good old tau fu fah for over 60 years.

After lunch continue visit to Gunung Lang Recreational Park is located 5km from Ipoh town, and is a otherworldly limestone area with unique limestone formations that provide a scenic backdrop for photos. There's a beautiful lake, lookout towers offering great views of nature, a cascading waterfall, as well as other facilities like a playground, campsite, and mini zoo here.

Day 2

Start your second day early with a dim sum breakfast! Our favourite dim sum spot is definitely Ming Court Hong Kong Dim Sum that will greet you with its bustling atmosphere made up of old-school tables, mosaic floor tiles, sharing tables with strangers, and waiters who weave through the crowd with silver trays of dim sum.

After breakfast, visit Lost World of Tambun for fun-filled day! Lost World Of Tambun is one of the best family-friendly attractions in Malaysia with its wide-range of outdoor activities set amidst beautiful natural landscapes. Scream your lungs out on the roller coaster, soak in the hot springs, and get up-close and personal with adorable raccoons at the petting zoo!

Day 3

Today visits covers:

Kellie's Castle - a famous Ipoh attraction that is a combination of beauty, mystery, and tragedy. The castle was built by a Scottish planter for his beloved wife (just like the story behind the Taj Mahal!) but was unfortunately left unfinished following his death. This castle's grounds have raised mystery over the years, three secret tunnels were discovered, and there have been spooky tales and rumours of supernatural sightings here.

Gua Tempurung - This cave is one of the largest limestone caves in Peninsular Malaysia, located in Gopeng, approximately 24km south of Ipoh. The cave is made up of large domes, a narrow river passage, huge chambers, and some amazing rock formations that can only be found in this part of the world.

Today lunch at special and famous Nasi Ganja At Kedai Kopi Yong Suan (halal)

Nasi Ganja is technically Nasi Kandar, a term coined by the locals because it's so addictive. Start your day with the best nasi ganja in town at Kedai Kopi Yong Suan, a rustic coffee shop that has been in business for over 60 years. Though it gets crowded here sometimes, service is quick and efficient so don't worry too much if you spot a long queue (in fact, most people in line are actually there to bungkus their meal)! Enjoy a hearty plate of nasi ganja with ayam merah, salted egg, veggies, and topped with flavourful curries.
